

ASID VIC: The changing focus of allied health support in intellectual disability

This seminar will engage speakers from the allied health sector, and family members of people with an intellectual disability to discuss and critique changes to the delivery of allied health services as a function of the Disability Royal Commission.

The event will be advertised to ASID members, anyone interested in providing allied health support to people with an intellectual disability, people with an intellectual disability, and their families.

Keynote speaker: Laura Hogan, Occupational therapist and the chief operating officer at the Centre for Disability Studies in Sydney

Panellists:

Carolynne Smith, General Manager – Western and Grampians Region, Annecto
Teresa Iacono, Professor in speech pathology at Latrobe rural health school in Bendigo

Helen Killmier, CEO/Principal Psychologist – Guidestar

Linda Cornell, Parent of young man who has an intellectual disability

Cost in person:

ASID member: $20

ASID non-member: $40

People with intellectual disability: free

Cost online:

ASID member: free

ASID non-member: $20

People with intellectual disability: free

Tuesday, 18 June 2024
1:30pm – 4:00pm (AEST)

La Trobe University City Campus
Level 2/360 Collins St
Melbourne VIC
Room: CB-360C-02-2.11

Visit asid.asn.au to register